Did you know?

For adults ages 50 years and older, two COVID-19 boosters provide the most protection against COVID-19

If you're older, a booster vaccine can mean the difference between a mild or severe COVID infection

Even though COVID-19 vaccines are highly effective, their effectiveness wears down over time. Booster doses give your body the most protection possible against severe COVID-19 illness.

COVID-19 booster shots are free, safe and widely available in Vermont

Contact our Helpline at 1-800-642-5119, your primary care provider, or wherever you received your original series of vaccinations to learn more.

Fully vaccinated does not mean fully protected

You are considered fully vaccinated once you receive the primary series of the COVID-19 vaccine. However, getting your booster shots is critical to maintaining the fullest protection possible against the virus.
